Bubble zones and Mary Wagner

Pro-life activist jailed again after entering abortion center to save unborn babies.

TORONTO, December 11, 2017 (LifeSiteNews) (in part)— Canadian pro-life rescuer Mary Wagner remains in jail after her arrest Friday at a Toronto abortion center where she and another woman were attempting to persuade women to choose life for their unborn babies. Wagner entered the Women’s Care Clinic. She was accompanied by a woman who identified herself as Immolatia.

Wagner carried roses, to which were attached a model of a 10-week-old baby in utero, a card with contact information for the Sisters of Life, and another card saying “You can keep you baby. Love will find a way.” Immolatia carried a poster that said the same. The police arrived around 10:30, and about 45 minutes later, dragged Wagner out through the front doors of the office building with her hands cuffed behind her back.

Immolatia was escorted to the edge of the property by two police officers. Wagner, 43, is charged with one count of mischief and two counts of breach of probation.

She was not charged under Bill 163, or “bubble zone” law, which bans all pro-life witness within 50 meters to 150 meters of the province’s eight abortion facilities. The Ontario government passed the law on October 26, but has not finalized regulations on its implementation. Wagner declined bail because she cannot in conscience agree to the condition to stay away from abortion centers. She will remain in jail until her trial, which might not take place for several months.

The abortion facility aborts unborn babies up to 20 weeks’ gestation, according to its website.

Wagner has spent four years and eight months in jail to date for her peaceful efforts to save women and unborn children from the violence of abortion. “I don’t think I could continue this path, and I don’t know if I would have even begun it, without the gift of faith and the grace that God — many graces, grace upon grace — that He has given me,” she told LifeSiteNews in an earlier interview.

“And the conviction through the Scripture, as well, that Jesus said, ‘Whatever you do to one of the least of my brothers, you this you do to me,’ and the importance of living that out concretely,” Wagner said.

“Every day Jesus is sentenced to die a horrific death at the modern day Golgotha in the killing places. He clearly summarized His Gospel for us in five succinct words: ‘You did it to me,’” Immolatia told LifeSiteNews. “He anguishes not only for the unborn, who are sacrificed to the god of abortion, but for the many souls placing themselves in mortal danger of eternal death,” she said. Her motivation for going into the abortion facility with Wagner was “first for love of God, and to love those whom He loves, and that includes the mother, the baby, the father, and those who are killing directly or indirectly,” Immolatia told LifeSiteNews.

“I am called as a baptized Catholic to help Jesus save souls,” she added.

“There is no more urgent work of mercy to be done than to save souls from the darkness of abortion and all sins against life.”

We now know that the so-called bubble zone law becomes effective on February 1, 2018. A prayerful presence at the killing places, a silent witness as to the sanctity of every human life, is outlawed. Our Lord invites us to live the Gospel of Life ever more profoundly; to walk into the fiery furnace with great confidence and trust in Him. - Immolatia

Lukewarm

Here's another explanation for why so many are lukewarm about abortion. Recently there was an article written in the Interim newspaper written by Dr. Scott Masson, an associate professor of English at Tyndale University College in Toronto and chairman of the Westminster Classical Christian Academy. He writes about the influence of what he calls Cultural Marxism. His definition is

Nancy Menard KW RTL Treasurer

"the attempt to bring about Marxist ideals not through violent revolution or warfare, but to do it instead through cultural institutions such as the entertainment industry, television, music and through education.

This is what has happened in our society and this brave new world is alive and well and growing since the 1960's. Young teens and adults have not known anything else in their lifetime but what they have been programmed to believe. If a war had occurred and we saw the troops coming in we would have fought back. We didn't fight back enough and the result is a state that seeks to destroy the family and attempts to bring everything under its control. The major first step in destroying the family is to separate sexuality from procreation. Now we have widespread abortion on demand, which is heralded as a human right that must be upheld at all costs, never mind the human right of the child.

Anyone who disagrees is painted as repressive and hateful to women, as well as politically incorrect. This Cultural Marxism has crept in sometimes gradually, sometimes swiftly, immobilizing even those who would have, in a different culture, been horrified pre 1960. It all sounds like a conspiracy theory, but it's not. See: W. S. Lind on Origins of Political Correctness https://youtu.be/_w0TOJspijA

Pray to End Abortion

40 Days for Life - I was at a 40 Days for Life, Pro-Life Vigil in front of Freeport Hospital, attended also by Pro-Abortion supporters. Although there were no altercations, you could cut the tension with a knife, as the two opposing groups stood their ground. For me, it was an Honour and Privilege to stand up for the rights of the unborn babies. Yes, they are human babies, not blobs or fetuses. Every abortion is sadistic, evil murder, because that human baby in their mother's womb is literally ripped apart, limb by limb and then their tiny heads are crushed. We call our society intelligent and civilized, ARE YOU KIDDING? Freeport Hospital, and all other abortion clinics are MURDER FACTORIES. Abortion is NEVER OK! God our Heavenly Father, who is the creator God, is the ONLY ONE who gives life and can end life. It is an Honour and Privilege for women to carry children in their womb, it is not their right or entitlement. The mothers have a right to choose what happens with their bodies, but ABSOLUTELY NO RIGHT to choose to kill the baby growing in their womb. The baby in their womb is a separate human being with separate rights, especially the right to life! Our society is so arrogant and narcissistic to think that we have the right to kill the most vulnerable human beings in our world, Precious, Beautiful children, that are Gifts from God. Abortion doctors, Planned Parenthood and our governments make money selling the dead aborted babies body parts. How pathetically sick, evil and diabolical. God our Heavenly Father please forgive us for our stupidity and extreme selfishness.

Excerpts from myths of choice

Andrea Mrozek

Cardus Family program director Andrea Mrozek 's talk with interns on Canada's Parliament Hill.

- Sex selection abortion is the most extreme—most final—effect of discrimination against women. We won't see an end to the removal of women from the planet without an end to abortion.
- Early feminists used strong language, speaking against abortion as "child murder." Our feminist foremothers recognized abortion as a symptom of oppression, not a solution to it.
- If we claim that autonomy is the highest value, if the ability to make choices, even bad choices, is what makes us human, then we should at least have some evidence this position helps us thrive. Instead, women are asked to accept this conception of women's flourishing on blind faith.
- Pregnancy and children are not a choice. This is the wrong framework. They are no more choices than your born children are, than any person is. When in doubt, I utilize The SLED principles: life's value does not depend on Size, Level of development, Environment or Degree of Dependency (SLED)
