Here's a true story that helps to unravel the rationalization for abortion. A married woman, Sabrina Limon from Helendale, California was having an affair with Jonathon Hearn. She wanted to be with Jonathon so she thought about divorcing her husband. After careful consideration she decided that it would leave her in a difficult situation, as she had a very close group of friends who spent a lot of time together. She was very aware of "her image" with those friends and in the entire small community, and also aware that she may be shunned by those friends and the community, should she divorce her husband. She decided that the better solution would be to murder her husband. Jaw dropping to say the least.

Sound familiar? When the time comes to decide what to do about an unplanned pregnancy, often, the inconvenience for whatever reason leads to exactly the same conclusion. Killing the child in the womb is the solution.

When thinking about Sabrina's decision it is so easy to see how illogical, how crazy, how immoral, the solution is. How did we come to this place in our society that this straight forward logic is so difficult to see when it comes to abortion.

Even when taking into consideration the age difference between killing a 30 year old man or a baby in the womb, it begs the question, is the baby in the womb a human being? Of course, but just in an earlier stage of development. Is it ok to kill a 5-year old, but not ok to kill a 6 or 10-year old, for example? It becomes clear that this "age discrimination" (of the unborn) is still practiced extensively, when every other form of discrimination is being called out in our modern era.

On the right side, a poll taken in the U.S. showed that ¾ of millennials favor more restrictions on abortion. Hopefully, more people are beginning to "get it".

Stand-Up for Rights Jane Richard President

Years ago at a KW Right to Life event, a young woman said to me: 'I don't believe in your stand against abortion but I would defend to the death your right to express it.'

The young woman's realization of the Canadian Charter - Rights and Freedoms is accurate as it says in the Charter: 2. (b) freedom of thought, belief, opinion and expression including freedom of the press and other media communication - A most precious right in any country is the freedom of speech and expression and many refugees around the world are fleeing countries that do not have it.

Canada has been challenged in past years with regard to this very right on campus that now has a new free speech policy from the Ontario Government.

During the prolife challenge last year with prayerful witness in front of Freeport Hospital Kitchener ON, a local abortion centre, one director from the hospital said smugly, to me, 'You can pray but not in front of the hospital.' Prolife people are still praying in front of the hospital.

There have been many such challenges. Currently in public demonstration with Tony Van Hee referenced <https://ottawacitizen.com/news/local-news/priest-charged-in-abortion-bubble-zone-flap-to-mount-free-speech-defence> - KW Right to Life is now facing opposition to our ads.

Court rulings in favour of reporting Ontario abortion statistics and allowing anti-abortion advertising is proof that the democratic process still works in Canada even though there is great resistance by some to suppress the anti-abortion message.

This is the Canadian Charter and this is what we believe. We will never give up our rights and freedom!

THE MARCH FOR LIFE

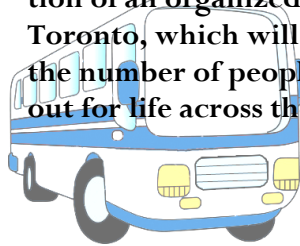

is coming to Canada's largest city Toronto! A message from WE NEED A LAW:

While many people from around Ontario travel to Ottawa for the March for Life on Parliament Hill, there has been an increasing call to provide an opportunity for the thousands that can't make the trip and still want to make sure their voice is heard in defence of the voiceless.

The movement has grown rapidly in the last 10 years and shows no signs of stopping. This one-day event will coincide with pro-life marches across the country on May 9th, 2019 but it won't simply be a march and rally. There will also be workshops available for people who want to learn how to become more active and effective.

It is important that our voice is heard in Ottawa, and we encourage those who are able to still attend the Ottawa March for Life, right on the federal government's doorstep. But we are also excited about the addition of an organized march in Toronto, which will increase the number of people speaking out for life across the country!

KW Right to Life has determined that we will provide a bus trip to Toronto this year.

Please call the KW RTL office for details about our trip.
